New album from Rune Larsen

For all those who know Rune Larsen as the “Lollipop-General”, his new album “Blå glede” might be a little surprise. Of course, it’s also this time some cuts from the 60s, but the main focus on this release are songs in Norwegian.

It all started when he attended the memorial service for his good friend Gustav Lorentzen a number of years ago, and heard Marit Voldsæter perform a song with lyrics by Gustav. On “Blå glede” there are collected several texts written by Lorentzen, which he never released himself, in addition to contributions from Jon Martin Skauge and Tore Nysæther.

Rune believes that this album is his most personal recording since “Cinderella” in 1965
